

510044

PATTERNS AND TRANSFORMATION OF THE SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC ORGANISATION OF THE GREEK RURAL AREA

Teacher responsible: A. Moysidis

compulsory (C) or selection (S) course	year	winter (W) or spring (S) semester
S	3rd	S

This course examines older and contemporary forms and institutions of social and economic organization of the rural area, as these are produced and transformed under the influence of historical conditions that apply in landed relations, in production and the relations of production. In particular, the course analyses the forms of organization of society and production that stem from the period of the Ottoman Empire, the family in rural area, as well as the contemporary collective forms of organization of the farmers, such as the co-operative and professional movement and the forms of social economy of the rural area.

Reading list: - Dossier