

510077

HEALTH AND HEALTH POLICY IN MODERN GREECE

Teacher responsible: M. Korasidou

compulsory (C) or selection (S) course	year	winter (W) or spring (S) semester
S	3rd	W

This course examines the basic questions of the history of health and health policy in Greece in the 19th century. Specifically, the creation of quarantine facilities at border entry points, the establishing of the first hospitals, the health policy, the policy regarding illness, diseases and epidemics, the question of child mortality and the medicalization of families, the status of the medical profession, psychiatry and the psychiatric institutions.

- Reading list:
- Korasidou, M., 2002. When Illness Threatens. Surveillance and Control of the Greek Population's Health in the 19th Century. Athens: Gutenberg (in Greek).
  - Vigarello, G., 2000. The Clean and the Dirty. Personal Hygiene from Medieval Times to the Present Day. Athens: Alexandria (translated into Greek).