

510101

LABOUR ECONOMICS

Teacher responsible: M. Karamessini

compulsory (C) or selection (S) course	year	winter (W) or spring (S) semester
S	3 rd	W

The course introduces students to the functioning of labour markets, the determination of wages and employment and the causes of unemployment according to neoclassical and Keynesian theories. Reference is also made to labour market segmentation theories.

- Reading list:
- Petrinioti, X., 1991. Labour Markets. Economic Theories and Research. Athens: Papazisis (in Greek)
 - Borjas, G., 2000. Labor Economics. The McGraw-Hill Companies Inc., 2nd edition (translated into Greek)