

510144

RURAL SOCIETY AND SOCIAL POLICY ISSUES

Teacher responsible: A. Moysidis

compulsory (C) or selection (S) course	year	winter (W) or spring (S) semester
S	4th	S

This course refers to issues deriving from the processes of social and economic transformation of the agricultural and wider rural area, which are sources of social inequalities, discrimination and social problems. Among the issues examined are geophysical differences and economic inequalities, multi-employment, poverty and the problems of special social categories in the rural area, as well as state policies on the organization of health services and security of the inhabitants of rural areas.

Reading list:

Notes
Dossier